

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., MAR. 12, 1897

W. P. WALTON.

The destruction of several toll-gates in Madison causes the Register to give the cowardly raiders some hot stuff, which we most heartily endorse. It says it is high time these mob were broken up and their members landed in the penitentiary, a place prepared for just such criminals. Their offense is not simply an offense against turnpike property—it is a savage assault on the natural rights of men. They must be apprehended and convicted. Private rights have been invaded, the law has been violated, order has been brushed aside, the county discredited and the State dishonored. Let justice be done.

AFTER all the upheaval that brought E. C. Linney to the surface may go for naught. It is now claimed that the Louisville city council, without authority to do so, changed the boundary of the Senatorial district by annexing a suburb, thereby rendering the election void and that neither he nor his democratic opponent can be seated. If this is true all of the so-called Senator's supposed importance will go glimmering and instead of going to Washington to take charge of the government printing office, he will have to go back to the case in some other printing establishment.

CONGRESSMAN BAILEY, who spoke here during the campaign for the democratic ticket, and who will probably be the leader of the minority in Congress, says the democrats should offer no futile opposition to the republican program for protection. They should, he thinks, insist on a full hearing and debate so that there shall be no flaws in the record. He is satisfied that we can win next time for the administration has bitten off much more than it can masticate.

THE 54th Congress appropriated nearly 1,100 millions of dollars, which reckless waste of the public funds causes Chairman Cannon, Reed's man of the appropriation committee, to say that the expenses of the government during the last Congress were in excess of the legitimate demands of the public service. The public agrees very fully with Mr. Cannon, but nobody expected him to go off in that way. It was supposed he was an apologist for the concern.

CHAIRMAN JOHNSTON, of the democratic State Central Committee, says the doors will be left wide open for those who want democratic success to join with us. This is the right spirit. There should be no questions asked, no charges made, but an earnest made effort from all sides to get together, not for the offices, but for the good of the country, which will soon need the saving grace of the democratic party.

THERE seems to be a disposition on the part of most people, who want to see justice administered, to advocate a respite for Walling till after Jackson is hanged, hoping that on the scaffold the principal in the tragedy will exonerate his tool. We believe, however, that if the law shall take its course no injustice will be done.

THE story published by several papers that Blackburn had thrown up the sponge and would not stand for re-election to the Senate proved what it bore on its face to be—the merest bosh. Joe does not surrender so easily. He will die a fighting, the more especially when he has a fighting chance, as in this instance.

DR. HUNTER's claim that he has 44 votes pledged to him for U. S. Senator is doubtless an effort to screw the courage of those who are actually pledged up to the sticking point. If his assertion is true he has pain sailing for the nomination, but it is not true by a jugful.

LOUISVILLE ladies will continue to wear high hats and obscure the sight of the stage from those who sit behind. The mayor vetoed the ordinance prohibiting the wearing of high hats in theatres, because he thinks it unconstitutional.

GOV. BRADLEY has no patience with juries that try to shift the responsibility of punishment on him by finding a man guilty and then asking for his pardon, and very sensibly turns down all such petitions.

How have the mighty fallen! John J. Ingalls, erstwhile U. S. Senator from Kansas, has gone to Carson, Nev., to write up the prize fight for a New York paper.

POLITICS.

Cleveland left a gold reserve of $150,000.

The Senate agreed to a sine die adjournment.

McKinley has already received 98,000 applications for places.

Dr. G. E. Townsend was nominated for mayor of Bowling Green.

Rev. S. H. Young, of Wooster, O., was appointed governor of Alaska.

A bill making prize-fighting a felony passed the Arkansas House by a large majority.

Gen. Harrison refused to indorse his son, Russell, for an internal revenue collectorship.

George W. Stone, of Leitchfield, was appointed State inspector of mines by Gov. Bradley.

Judge Rives, of Lebanon, has withdrawn from the race for circuit judge leaving Judge Patterson without opposition.

A feud between friends of Cooper and Day, both of Mt. Sterling, may result on account of the primary election for judge.

Hon. John A. Violett, claimed as one of the gold democrats who would vote for Hunter, denounces the story and Hunter too.

All but two of the members of the Sinking Fund Commission voted to retain Warden Happy. Clerk Canfield, however, must go.

On leaving Washington for Frankfort Joe Blackburn said he expected to be back in his old place again. The ex-Senator is a hopeful soul.

The sinking fund commissioners refused to remove Warden Happy from the Eddyville penitentiary, though urged by Gov. Bradley. Happy is a Hunter man.

A bill has been introduced in the New York Legislature to authorize an appropriation of $100,000 by the city of New York to establish a colony for habitual drunkards.

A Lexington paper says that at a conference there it was agreed that Blackburn should resign as nominee of the caucuses and that McCleary be substituted for U. S. Senator.

J. R. Mount is a candidate for the Legislature in Oldham county, subject to the democratic primary, to be held May 22. He is a son-in-law of Mr. J. M. McRoberts, of this place.

Col. Washington has made a powerful appeal to Gov. Bradley to save Walling's life. He says his client is mentally irresponsible and completely under the domination of Jackson.

Secretary Bliss says he is going to be conservative and only going to make necessary changes in the Interior Department but he will likely be induced to believe that an entire change is imperative.

Senator William Henry Jones, chairman of the republican joint caucuses, has called a caucus for Friday night at Frankfort. The call does not specify the nomination of a candidate for Senator as the purpose of the meeting.

Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter says he has 31 votes pledged for him in the republican caucuses, and that consequently he will be nominated and elected Senator. He says he is for himself first, last and all the time and has no second choice.

Failing to prevent the election of a republican Senator, it is said that Senator Blackburn will contest on the grounds of illegal votes cast by Speed, Lieberth and other republicans alleged to be disqualified to serve in the Legislature.

The Greek reply to the Powers was conciliatory. Greece offers to withdraw the fleet from Crete under control of the Powers to restore order, it is suggested that the question of Cretan autonomy be left to the Cretans.

It is said that when Congress adjourned, Hon. James B. McCleary "looked mournfully towards Kentucky." Incidentally, it may be observed that whenever the Honorable Jemius McCleary looks mournful, it is time for other politicians to begin to feel that way.—Glasgow Times.

C. B. Cotton's platform ought to make him solid for the Legislature in Jessamine. He says: "I not only favor free turnpikes, but free lunch counters; coal reduced to six cents a bushel; free transportation on railroads; no charges should be made by liverymen; banks should not charge interest on money; doctors no medical fees; lawyers should be retired from business; merchants made to sell goods at cost and every effort put forth to make times more prosperous."

A dispatch from Morelos, Mexico, says that H. R. Reinson, an American cattle buyer, has just closed deals for the purchase of 38,000 head of Mexican cattle. These cattle were all purchased from ranches of that section and they will be shipped to Texas in a few days and fattened for market.

It will not be Secretary Price's fault if the Kentucky Derby isn't the race of the year. Twenty-three royalty bred three-year-olds made the final payment on March 1st and at least half that number will face the starter. It will be an inter-state contest. Horses will be here from all over the country and the interest in the result will be national.—Louisville Critic.

D. W. Branch, a Montgomery engineer, has patented a side valve for an engine, which he has sold to the Plant System for $100,000. It saves nearly half the steam.

Thomas Sizemore was called to his door in upper Breathitt county and assassinated by parties supposed to belong to the Red Strings, who have been guilty of other crimes in the neighborhood lately.

Mrs. Clara Doddard, of New York City, threw her baby out of a fifth story window when she heard that her house was afire. When she realized what she had done she jumped from the window and was fatally injured.

Attorney General Taylor has filed against the Southern Pacific Company four suits for nearly $150,000, claiming as fines and penalties for four years' failure to report to the auditor the data required for an assessment of the company's franchise.

Harmon Kamp, a Covington printer, called at his divorced wife's home and asked her to go out with him. On her refusal he fired four shots at her, the last taking off his mother-in-law's left ear. She took the pistol away from him and handed him over to the police.

Three States have abolished capital punishment—Rhode Island, Maine and Wisconsin and substituted imprisonment in penitentiaries, generally for life. So far as we are advised the abolition of capital punishment has been followed by an increase of capital crimes.

Robert G. Blaine, a brother of the late James G. Blaine, is dead at Washington. He was 65 years old and leaves a wife and six children. Mr. Blaine had resided there for a long number of years, and for some time was employed in one of the executive departments.

OLD MONEY.—Mr. C. W. Boone, of the Gilberts Creek section, has a silver dollar with the stamp of King George I made 132 years ago and another stamped with King George II nearly 125 years old.

TO THE PEN.—Deputy Sheriff R. M. Newland, assisted by jailor George DeBord and Jack Benley, took Frank Brooks, George Craig, Fields Salter and John Anderson to Frankfort yesterday to serve the sentences imposed at the recent term of circuit court.

JUDGE SAUFLEY was right when, in his charge to the grand jury, he characterized the turnpike raiders as cowards. The turnpike raiders are cowards, and turnpike raiding would soon be broken up if so many of the officers of the law were not also cowards.

ND toll is being taken on the Hall's Gap pike. John Barnes, who kept the gate near town having moved to his farm on Neal's creek, and Mrs. Engebretson, who kept the other gate, having declined to collect it and will move out.

William Wilder, who kept the gate on the Lancaster pike for a week, has thrown up his job and James Beldner, the paralytic, now has it in charge.

ONE of the showmen and his wife had a row at the St. Asaph the other night and as a result the husband was locked up. He claimed that the woman had received a compromising letter in answer to one she had sent, and the trouble began. He choked her and she blinded his eye. Next day Judge Carson fined the man $10, which he paid and shoots the dust of the city from his feet. The woman went free.

THE changes that time has wrought in Stanford in the last 45 years is wonderful. Mr. Mack Huffman, who though unmarried, confesses to 60 years of age, tells us that he and only five other persons are living here that were when he was 10 years old.—J. N. Craig, Mrs. Susan Wayren, Mrs. Sallie VanArsdale, Wm. Daugherty and J. S. Hughes. He further finds that within a radius of 25 miles from Stanford not a single person is living in houses now that they were 45 years ago and that he is the only person that is living on the same lot that he was at that time, though the old house has long since gone the way of so many others. Mr. Huffman was born and raised here and has seen the place grow from a mere hamlet to one of considerable importance.

REMARKABLE FAMILY.—Mr. George Conway Abramham, who lies quite ill at his home in the East End, is a member of a family remarkable in many respects. The parents, Francis Abramham and Festine Mallory, came to this State from King William county, Virginia, when Indians constituted the greater part of the population and settled on the farm still occupied by the family. To them were born 11 children all of whom lived until the youngest was 45 years old. The wife was the first to die. Six of the family are living whose combined ages are 465 years making an average of 77½ years. Five of them live in one house, all enjoying single blessedness. Five of the eight daughters married and their husbands were all house carpenters. George C. and William F. served the Confederacy under Morgan and came home without a scratch, except small pox marks contracted at Fort Douglas. The old gentlemen are very proud to say that not one of the descendants of the family ever cast a republican vote.

IT is generally understood that Judge Dawson will appoint Mr. J. E. Lynn magistrate when the former's papers arrive.

FOR SALE.—Coal, corn, corn-chop, hay, millet, straw, ship stuff, oats, &c. See prices in another column. J. H. Baughman & Co.

BORN, to the wife of James McGiffy, of Highland, a girl.

NORTHERN seed potatoes, oats, &c., at Higgins & McKinney's.

EGGS.—Barred Plymouth Rocks, pure as can be, 75¢ for 15. H. J. McRoberts.

A LARGE line of the latest Spring styles in hats just received at Shanks'. Come in and look at them.

EXAMINE the grey enameled goods in Higgins & McKinney's window; illicit from the factory and lower than ever offered here.

FOR SALE.—Northern seed and feed oats, hay, corn, Timothy seed, Blue Grass seed and Clover seed. Opposite M. D. Elmore's. J. B. Higgins.

J. T. JONES has opened a dyeing and cloth cleaning business in connection with his shop. The German who was with the well-known Anderson does his work.

MRS. KATE P. MILLER, as ext'd, has changed the date for sale of lots advertised elsewhere in this issue to Saturday March 13 at 2 p. m., in front of the court house door. At the same time she will sell a valuable law library and a safe, new and in good condition.

MARCH 13.—The date for the meeting of the Demoeratic County Committee has been postponed one week and the members of it are requested to be in Stanford at 10 a. m., Saturday, March 13. The candidates for the various county offices will be on hand at 1 p. m., same date. J. E. Carson, chmn.

DAWSON.—Squire W. L. Dawson was elected county judge yesterday on the 10th ballot, the vote standing three for him and one for Hon. Harvey Helm. From the first to the ninth ballot the vote stood two each for Mr. Helm and Mr. P. M. McRoberts, Squires Dawson and Bailey voting for the former and Edmiston and Fankner for the latter. They then voted for their colleague Mr. Dawson, who cast his vote for Mr. Helm. It is a pretty trying time to go into office now but we believe that Judge Dawson will prove equal to the occasion and fill the office with credit alike to himself and the county.

BABY FOUND.—While getting driftwood out of Dix river near the mouth of Hickman's cave Tuesday, Jerry Engleman, a well-known colored man, found a Negro boy baby. A fishing line was tied tightly around its neck and it was very evident that its cruel mother or some other heartless being had tied the little thing to a rock or some other heavy substance and thrown it into the river. It was a good-looking child and Engleman thinks it could not have been exceeding two weeks old. After burying it in his garden the old man came to town and told the officers what he had found, but it is more than probable that its destroyer will never be known.

DEATH.—J. Metzgar Ashlock died at Lexington Wednesday after 10 days illness of pneumonia and his remains were brought here yesterday and laid to rest in the old family burying ground on the Lancaster pike. He was a guard at the asylum and was both a good officer and citizen. He was a son of the late George Ashlock and was 26 years old. Mr. Ashlock joined the order of the Macabees some months ago but took out no insurance. The following members of the Lexington Tent accompanied the remains here: A. L. Hawks, E. B. Hawkins, R. S. Nichols, and J. H. Shryock, while David Lee, Charles Smith and Thomas Martin, associated with him at the asylum showed their respect for him by coming along.

The turnpike raiders were out again Monday night and tore down the gate on the Lancaster pike again. We have no stock in a single pike and therefore do not speak from an interested standpoint, but if we were an officer of any of the roads and the raiders were to tear down a gate, we would put armed men there and collect toll. If it took every cent and more to pay the expense. One man with backbone and a gun could run every raider that would ever show his face. They are afraid to do anything in the open, but prefer darkness for their deeds and anonymity for their communications.

The following cowardly epistles was received through the mail, but it does not scare the receivers even a little bit. Mr. Vanleveen says the cowards are at liberty to call on him any time they see fit and he will give them the best in his shop.

MR. D. W. VANDEVEER.—Dear Sir: As you seem to be determined to still collect toll on your Roads We will say that if those Gates Does Not come Down at once they will be taken Down and if there is one Man Hurt off the Free turn men your Neck and Wallis Varnons and your Property shml Pay the Pendleby Now you may think this Simply talk of one man But you Will see there is Hundreds of us so you Can Do as you Please and take What follows the Res a Friend.

P. S.—We Have Bin off thinking coming and seeing you and Walls About Mid Night soon any way it is a Little unpleasant to Here thunder With out a Cloud But this Will Happen if those Gates Does Not come off Stanford, March 4.

TAXES.—Sheriff T. D. Newland contributes a column to this issue. Read it and if your name appears in it you had better see him at once.

THE rain of Tuesday kept a number of the members of the Lincoln County Medical Society from coming to their meeting here and very little business was transacted.

DEATH.—“Aunt Mealy” Buckner, one of the best old colored women who ever lived in Stanford, died Wednesday. She was the wife of Scott Buckner and was about 60 years old.

FOR getting drunk and acting in a disorderly manner, James Humber, an East End Negro, was put under guard and will be tried at Crab Orchard this morning. He went to the house of Geo. Haggard and scared his family and when the latter found him he cut two ugly gashes in the Negro's head with an axe.

FOR SALE.—Northern seed and feed oats, hay, corn, Timothy seed, Blue Grass seed and Clover seed. Opposite M. D. Elmore's. J. B. Higgins.

J. T. JONES has opened a dyeing and cloth cleaning business in connection with his shop. The German who was with the well-known Anderson does his work.

FAST MAIL.—It lightened and it thundered, it rained and poured, but those disturbances of the elements failed to keep the people from seeing the Fast Mail at Walton's Opera House Monday night. A good sized crowd was there and enjoyed the performance from the rise to the last fall of the curtain. The scenic effects were very realistic, the blowing up of the steamboat, the mail and freight trains and Niagara Falls creating both wonderment and applause. Each actor seemed to fit his part and all did well. The versatile author of the play, Mr. Lincoln J. Carter, has several other shows on the road and all are doing like the one that appeared here, winning success and coining money for him. Manager R. G. Gimpill is an exceedingly clever, as well as a very fine business man, and makes friends wherever he goes.

MOODY.—Instead of going to the opera, the religious editor of this paper went to hear Moody at Music Hall, while in Cincinnati Wednesday night, and was amply repaid, even if he had heard nothing further than the solo by Prof. Towne. “When the Mists have Rolled Away,” accompanied in the chorus by several hundred voices. It is a grand song, grandly sung and Mr. Moody himself said he had never heard better music. In fact he declared that he was loath to begin as he would like to hear that choir sing all night for there could not be better music this side of glory, and so it seemed as the notes filled the immense hall and stirred the audience of 5,000 people. The great evangelist spoke from Isaiah: “Let the wicked man forsake his way and the unrighteous man his thoughts, &c.” It was direct mainly to sinners and was one of the most powerful efforts ever listened to. He explained repentance at length, urged the sinner to turn from his way and accept the salvation that can be had for the asking. His manner is intensely earnest, his words are eloquent and taken all in all he has hardly a pulpit superior. Just before the sermon he asked the audience to engage with him in silent prayer and a stillness prevailed with those 5,000 people, which would have been interrupted even by a pin fall.

MATRIMONIAL.

G. William Conner, in the Chatham county, Ga., jail under a 15 years' sentence for murder, married Miss Sarah Keely.

M. T. Reynolds, a widower of 55, and Mrs. Sarah C. Gooch, a good looking widow of 51, were married this week. Both are from the Waynesburg section. James W. Harris, a widower of 79, was married at Centralia, Mo., to Miss Lizzie Allen, a widow of 23. The groom has six children who are older than his wife.

Jacob Cross, a Rushville, Ind., farmer, who has just died, was married six times and three of his former wives with his widow, survive him. Five of the women were widows when Cross married them.

Down in Southwestern Kentucky, last week, a man caught a fellow a-hugging his wife. Instead of killing him, he went to a lawyer and stated the case. “I can get a divorce for you easy enough on that,” said the attorney. “I do not want a divorce” said the fellow “that woman's the finest in town, what I want is an injunction,” and thereupon the man of law expired.

Jesse C. Lynn and Miss Ora Wood were married yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Rev. R. R. Noel's by that gentleman. The wedding was a quiet affair, there being no attendants and only a few friends present. After the ceremony the young couple drove out to the groom's father's, Mr. James E. Lynn, where they will reside. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. Thomas E. Wood, of the Maywood section, and is an unusually handsome and attractive lady and is the possessor of many accomplishments. The groom is the well-known stock man who counts his friends by the hundreds. He is the eldest son of Mr. J. E. Lynn and a fine business man. That the union will be a happy one we have not a doubt and the INTERIOR JOURNAL extends to the happy pair its heartiest congratulations and best wishes.
